

THE PASSOVER

CHAPTER 17

Jesus told Moses how to save the Israelite children. He said each Israelite father should get a lamb. The lamb must have nothing wrong with it.

Exodus 12:3-5

Moses told the Israelites to kill the lambs. They obeyed him. They put the lambs' blood on their doors. The sickness would pass over the houses with blood on their doors. If there were no blood on the door the oldest child would die.

Exodus 12:6-11

The Israelites cooked the lamb meat and ate it. They stayed in their houses.

Exodus 12:28

That night the oldest child of each Egyptian family died. Even the king's oldest son died.

Exodus 12:29-30

The sickness passed over the houses with blood on the door. The Israelite children did not die. Jesus called this the Passover. He told the Israelites to remember the Passover. He said they should have a Passover dinner every year. They should remember that Jesus saved their children.

Exodus 12:14, 41-42

The king was afraid everyone in Egypt would die. He sent for Moses and Aaron. He told them to take the Israelites and leave Egypt.

Exodus 12:30-33

The Israelites left Egypt. Moses led them. Jesus showed Moses where to go.

Exodus 13:20-22

The king of Egypt still wanted the Israelites for slaves. He took his army and chased them.

Exodus 14:5-9

The Israelites came to the Red Sea. They saw the Egyptian army coming. The Israelites were afraid. They thought they would be killed. They would rather be slaves than be killed.

Exodus 14:10-12

Moses told them not to be afraid. He said Jesus would help them.

Exodus 14:10, 13-14

Moses told Moses to raise his hand over the sea. A strong wind divided the sea. It was a miracle. It showed the Israelites God's power. Moses stopped the Egyptians. The Israelites walked across on dry ground. Then the Egyptians went after them.

Exodus 14:16, 19, 21-23

The Israelites were safe on the other side. Jesus told Moses to raise his hand over the sea again.

The sea covered the Egyptians. They were killed.

Exodus 14:26-30

Now the Israelites were free. They sang songs and danced and thanked God. They would always remember the Passover. They would always remember that Jesus led them out of Egypt.

Exodus 15:1-22
