TYLER TRIES AGAIN

By Ray Goldrup
(Based on a true story)

The author lives in Utah, USA.

Can I play?

Oh, great. It's that new kid who just moved in.

Don't you think you should go home, Wally? I do.

The next day . . .

I shouldn't have laughed at Wally yesterday. I should've invited him play with us.

I didn't mean to stain the couch. I'm sorry.

It's OK. Let's clean it together.

Who knew getting out a spot would be so much work?

Mistakes happen, but we can fix this.

Something else happened that I need to fix.
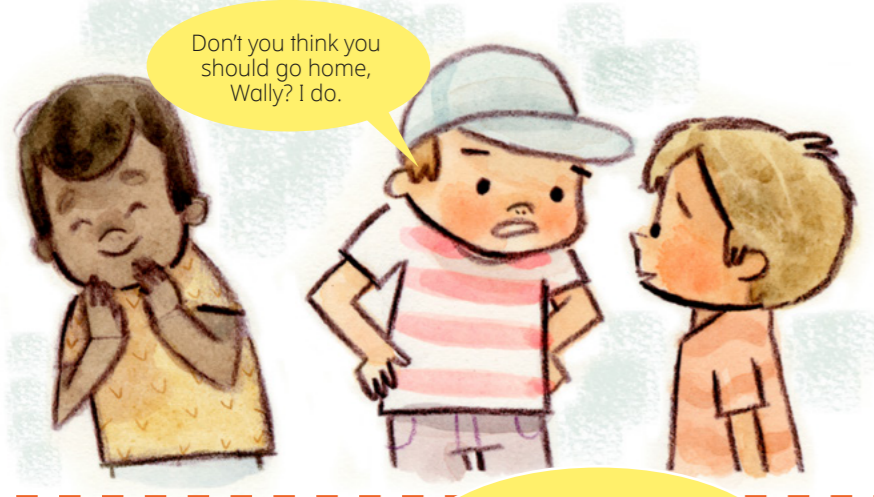

Sure!

I'm really sorry we were mean to you. Do you want to play?

ILLUSTRATION BY JESS GOLDEN

See Come, Follow Me for Mormon 1–6.